

Pearson/Scott Foresman Online Math- Student Home Page

This is what the Pearson Online Math looks like when students log on:

This is a link where parents can look up how their child is doing with online tests and assignments. See additional page for what this looks like.

The screenshot shows the Pearson/Scott Foresman Online Math Student Home Page. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Home' and 'Parents' links. The main content area is divided into several sections. On the left, there is a green section titled 'My Home Page - Isaac Newton from Utah' with a sub-section for 'Mr. Ophof Mathematics'. This section displays 'Your next assignment is...' followed by 'eTool Workshop: Counting Hundreds, Tens, and Ones' and a 'Start assignment' button. Below this is a 'Mathematics' section with a link 'Take It to the Net'. At the bottom left, there is a 'Mathematics' section with a small image of a cartoon bear and the text 'SFAW Math © 2008 National OSE: G3'. On the right, there is a blue section titled 'From My Teacher' with a message dated '02/06/2008' that says 'Good Work, Isaac!' and a 'Go to notices' link. The top right corner features the Pearson/Scott Foresman logo and links for 'About', 'Logout', and 'Help'.

This box shows the next online assignment/test in the student's queue.

These two lines show the student and teacher names.

This box contains a link to the online tools, games, and math videos.

This blue box is where the teacher can post notes to the students.
